2020-09-24 12:28:47 UTC	Shannon Hundley	Killing off the committee structure is brilliant in all aspect of organizations and businesses!
2020-09-24 12:28:54 UTC	Beth Christy Draper	Kate Easter (she/her) I love it! I found great connection through interacting with Nature in ancient traditional ways, like gathering wild foods and processing wild foods and herbs together in circle with others.
2020-09-24 12:28:55 UTC	Sally Manikian	committee recruitment is a killer to genuine engagement! Building inclusivity and a movement is the antithesis to white patriarchal supremacy.
2020-09-24 12:28:58 UTC	Cynthia Cutting	So agree! We have so much "tired of committee failure" here! It has stopped the willingness to move and make change happen.
2020-09-24 12:29:06 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	Love this, instead of committees: Plant your flag to attract the people who care and are willing to pitch in 2020-09-24 12:38:31 UTC	Marcia Passos-Duffy	I love this ... the brewery example. Grassroots.

2020-09-24 12:39:10 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	YES! To fitting the responsibilities given to the level of motivation people have! We've done this by eliminating titles & instead distributing responsibilities typically reserved for managers or supervisors amongst those who choose to take them on from the general staff who are then given a pay increase based on a value assigned to that specific responsibility.

2020-09-24 12:39:11 UTC	Deb Brown	nope - lots of great ideas!
2020-09-24 12:39:12 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	This has removed a tremendous amount of pressure on managers/supervisors and has created a sense of agency and empowerment in the general staff.
2020-09-24 12:39:14 UTC	Gaea McGahee	clothesline = small but visible signs of caring
2020-09-24 12:39:25 UTC	Kirstan Knowlton	I follow an artist & blogger online who uses Patreon to support her work. She starts out with a level of support at just $1 a month. I didn't realize just how much a $1 a month contribution could make until she put it in perspective. I realized that maybe I couldn't buy her art right now, but I could definitely do $1!
2020-09-24 12:39:41 UTC	Dannine (da-neen) (she/her) Donaho	Small but meaningful: make art celebrating ideas of social change
2020-09-24 12:40:02 UTC	Mary Greene	@ Becky, thank you!

2020-09-24 12:41:08 UTC	Marcia Passos-Duffy	More diversity = more ideas.
2020-09-24 12:41:17 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	Yes to more diversity!
2020-09-24 12:41:18 UTC	Louis Jeantete	Yes to diversity! This is critical and key to success

2020-09-24 12:42:25 UTC	Lou McCall	Will do!
2020-09-24 12:42:32 UTC	Louis Jeantete	Corilia Ortega Yes!!!
2020-09-24 12:42:54 UTC	Amy Andersen (She/Her)	How to move those who are really attached to the 1950s ideas along?
2020-09-24 12:42:57 UTC	AnJanette Brush	@Corilia Ortega Yes!
2020-09-24 12:43:00 UTC	Sarah Clemmitt	We have seen such a drop off in the arts that we began an arts day at the high school and bring volunteer local artist in to work with students in sessions all day long
2020-09-24 12:43:03 UTC	Brigid Murray	Shawn Marquis So cool to see what you are doing for Berlin!

2020-09-24 12:43:19 UTC	Lou McCall	In New Mexico, solar and wind energy is queen, hence the clothesline!
2020-09-24 12:43:20 UTC	Michael Jones	Seems like our new zoning policies are top down and the old way to solve affordable housing . . .what if a community group started with innovative solutions?
2020-09-24 12:43:22 UTC	Liz Bailey	What about establishing a cooperative as a way to keep keep community members engaged?

2020-09-24 12:43:30 UTC	Rachel Shapard	Are there any folks from rural GA attending this event? Would love to connect!
2020-09-24 12:43:40 UTC	Sharon Beever	Too many breweries in Maine, in my opinion and alcoholism is growing along with the industry.
2020-09-24 12:44:04 UTC	Jennifer danifo	Good morning from Pennsylvania!
2020-09-24 12:44:13 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	Sarah Clemmitt great idea!
2020-09-24 12:44:26 UTC	Louis Jeantete	Todd Wynward Yes to creating space for both formal and informal opportunities to open dialogue

2020-09-24 12:44:34 UTC	Michael Jones	"we're doing it . . .follow us"
2020-09-24 12:44:41 UTC	Tiffany Holmes	Rachel Shapard I work with the Georgia Chamber and my primary focus is rural Georgia.
2020-09-24 12:44:43 UTC	Sharon Beever	To get people excited about a place for teens, we need to get teens onboard to see what they want.
2020-09-24 12:44:50 UTC	Sarah Clemmitt	Lisa, we do it the day between semesters which is a nice break
2020-09-24 12:44:55 UTC	Deb Brown	You don't have to know all the answers, you just have to be open to new ideas!
2020-09-24 12:45:03 UTC	Janet Bartlett	I think that is a bad & toxic way of thinking towards the 1950's. You may not be able to lose people that were never yours, but you can win them.
2020-09-24 12:45:05 UTC	Beth Christy Draper	Sharon Beever YES!!!
2020-09-24 12:45:22 UTC	Charles Cooper	Remember, you don't have to have all the answers. You do need to be open to all the opportunities.
2020-09-24 12:45:22 UTC	Rachel Shapard	Tiffany Holmes would love to connect with you! rguntershapard@cbf.net
2020-09-24 12:45:30 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	Sharon Beever YES! We so often want to do stuff FOR others without their involvement and without even asking their thoughts
2020-09-24 12:45:41 UTC	Cynthia Cutting	And, I'm thinking that I have been doing the small steps, but often doing them my self. I need to give the friend group those small tasks they can manage
2020-09-24 12:45:54 UTC	Beth Christy Draper	Lisa Sieverts so true!
2020-09-24 12:46:04 UTC	Brad Brown	On the topic of "you can't lose people who were never yours" -- I've had some success in the past with the idea of inclusion by exclusion. Build a sizeable/committed-enough community to move forward, and you'll drag those dragging their feet or stuck in the past along with you. And eventually (in my experience) at least a few of them will eventually see the merit in what you're doing and become supporters.
2020-09-24 12:46:11 UTC	Landen Schaelling	Liz Bailey Co-op grocery store is what I'm working on. A lot of "best practices" still involve committees, so the approach is also important and not just calling it a co-op is what I'm learning.
2020-09-24 12:46:13 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	What would you recommend in a small town where those who are on all the committees are the most defiant of new ideas while at the same time lamenting all the work they have to do alone.
2020-09-24 12:46:15 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	?
2020-09-24 12:46:31 UTC	Carl Jacobs	Also, the quantity of ideas leads to quality
2020-09-24 12:46:34 UTC	Tiffany Holmes	Rachel Shapard Yes, I can be reached at tholmes@gachamber.com. Looking forward to talking with you!
2020-09-24 12:46:41 UTC	Patricia Martin	Peterborough did this to support the solar project at the school!
2020-09-24 12:46:49 UTC	Marcia Passos-Duffy	Yes! I found a rock once in a random place. It said "You are not alone."
2020-09-24 12:46:53 UTC	Patricia Martin	We painted rocks about the solar project.

2020-09-24 12:46:55 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	Not all ideas will work and that's OK.
2020-09-24 12:47:08 UTC	Mary Ellen Nose	Perhaps highlight the different saw mills and our forests in some way that stimulates the community to celebrate our natureal resources and those that contribute to our local income.
2020-09-24 12:47:12 UTC	Sharon Beever	I've seen the painted rock idea in several communities - it is a fun idea!
2020-09-24 12:47:22 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	Keep going and try another idea. Eventually something will get traction and then you'll know you're on the right track.
2020-09-24 12:47:25 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	Love the painted rock idea as well!
2020-09-24 12:47:26 UTC	Mary Greene	We do that here in Lander, WY and call it "Lander Rocks!"
2020-09-24 12:47:28 UTC	Jennifer danifo	@lisa sieverts - so important to remember this!!! Sometimes it takes a little experimentation!
2020-09-24 12:47:36 UTC	Dannine (da-neen) (she/her) Donaho	If our town...continued to support the work of artists...
2020-09-24 12:47:42 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	"We don't know which one idea will work"
2020-09-24 12:47:43 UTC	Lou McCall	Questa Rocks!
2020-09-24 12:47:49 UTC	Rachel Shapard	Tiffany Holmes I'll send you an email. :)
2020-09-24 12:47:56 UTC	Marcia Passos-Duffy	I want to paint rocks that say "Keene Rocks" lol
2020-09-24 12:47:59 UTC	Patricia Martin	Painting the rocks was also an event at a local coffee shop. Solar project supporters got together, had coffee, chatted and painted rocks.
2020-09-24 12:48:07 UTC	Shannon Hundley	Janet Bartlett I agree that you can win them and love that you are thinking like that!!! I think the idea is not getting stuck when/if they are not behind you. It's easy to get discouraged when they are not with you, especially when they are in power, and then get stuck instead of progressing forward, continuing with the conversation.
2020-09-24 12:48:14 UTC	Martha Behrens-Temple	I found a painted rock in my garden!
2020-09-24 12:48:32 UTC	Lisa Sieverts	Consensus emerged from the ACTIONS people were actually willing to take
2020-09-24 12:48:50 UTC	Lou McCall	Consensus comes from people taking actions they are motivated to take, yes!
2020-09-24 12:49:02 UTC	Mark Burke	Love the idea...Get 10 people to create 10 ideas, do them, see what works, do that.
2020-09-24 12:49:16 UTC	Dannine (da-neen) (she/her) Donaho	We learned so much this summer on our #renegadespark project --small art/projects downtown... I love this idea that you don't have to know all the answers-- pretty much my life motto! haha
2020-09-24 12:49:17 UTC	Sarah Clemmitt	Janet Bartlett Maybe the problem stems more from feeling left behind
2020-09-24 12:49:20 UTC	Brad Brown	Kathleen Menegozzi We had a similar issue when we moved here (small-town Saskatchewan) a few years ago. In time, we gathered a social group of (mostly) fellow newcomers to town & saw three new committees spring up in short order. It didn't come from the old guard. It came from new people with new ideas who wanted to see a preschool, a spray park and an annual sports dinner fundraiser.
2020-09-24 12:49:25 UTC	Cynthia Cutting	We're doing another version of the rocks- as fabric wish flags for the community, sewn together and strung on main street
2020-09-24 12:49:46 UTC	Louis Jeantete	Yes to possibility seeking, not problem solving!
2020-09-24 12:49:54 UTC	Kathleen Menegozzi	LOVE THIS!
2020-09-24 12:50:07 UTC	Beth Christy Draper	love this!!

2020-09-24 12:50:19 UTC	Susan Richman	What was the title of the book that studied small towns over a long period?
2020-09-24 12:50:24 UTC	Sharon Beever	Wish flags - that's a great idea Cynthia Cutting
2020-09-24 12:50:34 UTC	Marcia Passos-Duffy	I would love this ... do you have this as a business card to hand this out?
2020-09-24 12:50:47 UTC	Michael Jones	"Community is our goal"
2020-09-24 12:50:51 UTC	Marie Christine Duggan	I like that "we value who is here now," not trying to bring others in.
2020-09-24 12:50:55 UTC	Michele Chalice	@martha Behrens-Temple Not surprising Martha. You are a rock star!
2020-09-24 12:50:59 UTC	Mary Greene	I love the wish flags Cynthia Cutting
2020-09-24 12:51:06 UTC	Beth Christy Draper	Marcia Passos-Duffy yes
2020-09-24 12:51:15 UTC	Claire Cote	Cynthia Cutting Like the flag idea!
2020-09-24 12:51:34 UTC	Kirstan Knowlton	That gave me goosebumps!
